

"After my abortion, I was embarrassed, ashamed and full of guilt. I thought and hoped that if I could suppress those feelings long enough I would forget them, but I didn't. For ten years, I was going through the motions of life, but not really living." -Barb

Even when our hearts condemn us,
God is greater than our heart and knows all things.

TALK ABOUT ABORTION IN TRUTH & GRACE

The Church
Can't Afford Not To

Broken From Silence

WHAT DOES THE CHURCH KNOW ABOUT ABORTION

Do they know that abortion is "the willful, intentional ending of a human life, usually by poisoning, dismembering, and/or inducing cardiac arrest."

Do they know if they are prolife, pro-abortion or not really sure? How can addressing abortion from a biblical worldview help church members solidify their beliefs on abortion?

Do they know that 1 in 4 women have had an abortion and that many live stoically, silently in pain because of having an abortion?

Do they know there is biblical hope, healing and even purpose after abortion?

Do they know it is the responsibility of the church to serve one another in love, offer accountability, discipleship, and a community in which to freely confess sins and grow spiritually?

Do they know how they can be an instrument of God's grace to provide support for those who are post-abortive?

What are the consequences when people don't receive healing, have a safe environment to share or aren't offered support?

Truth & Grace Powerful & Effective Communication

Churches are filled with women and men who sit stoically, silently in pain as a result of participating in abortion. Estimates show that 1 in 4 women will have an abortion in her lifetime. More than 2 in 5 women were attending church at the time they aborted, but yet only 7% of them discussed their decision with anyone in their church.

According to a national survey conducted by Care Net Pregnancy Centers, women often choose the abortion clinic over the church out of fear of gossip within the church about the unexpected pregnancy. Scott McConnell, Executive Director of Lifeway Research elaborates on this by saying, "The results point to a church culture that often lacks grace."

To speak effectively, we must not only speak the truth, but we must also do so in grace, not forgetting to acknowledge the women and men who live under abortion's destructive aftermath. An environment that's conducive to healing needs to be cultivated for individuals to flourish in Christ. For that to happen, words of truth must be intermingled with words of grace.

What is the culture in your church? Is it one that openly talks truth but doesn't extend grace? Would you like them to learn how to do both?

to those hurt by abortion.
